UTILITY & INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS

Overall Business

• Major focus continues to be on servicing customers during storm season – Iowa, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut/New England area
• Continuing to have increased interest from utilities for using CCA and creosote as treatment alternatives to penta preservative
• UIP on track for best year since acquired by Koppers; long-term fundamentals remain solid

Utilities

• Increased activity in pole replacements due to storm damage; expect hurricane season to be more active in next 1-2 months

Piling

• Increased quoting activity as restrictions lifted for construction projects

Recovery

• Evaluating synergies with crosstie disposal and potential opportunities with bridge deck removal projects

Supply Chain

• Outlook remains positive; raw materials pricing currently in check; wet weather potential concern but typical for time of year
Overall Business

- Crosstie business remains solid although commercial market experiencing less bidding activity and lower pricing
- Denver facility on track for closure at end of August

Crossties

- For August 15, 2020 YTD vs. prior year period, U.S. railroads reported cumulative volumes lower by 16.2%; intermodal units declined 8.4%; total combined U.S. traffic decreased 12.2% (American Association of Railroads)
- In general, railroad industry offsetting lower volumes with increased productivity; certain railroads taking advantage of fewer track time to increase maintenance on their infrastructure (Railway Tie Association)

Maintenance-of-Way

- Higher demand and improved profitability in Rail Structures and Recovery Resources; continued growth expected in second half 2020 for MOW businesses

Supply Chain

- Reducing crosstie purchases as inventories stabilizing; third party supply of dry ties for certain customers
Overall Business

PERFORMANCE CHEMICALS

International

• Nordic Region, Germany, Ireland and U.K. seeing strong volumes
• Australia and New Zealand experiencing high demand for treated timber
  ✓ Melbourne metropolitan area entered strict 6-week shutdown to address continuing high COVID-19 infection rates
• Brazil seeing high demand in agricultural, industrial and residential markets

Supply Chain

• Copper hedges for 2021-2022 at lower average costs than 2020; no additional benefit in 2020 related to lower copper prices due to being fully hedged
• Strong U.S. demand outstripping internal production capacity; purchasing some intermediate materials from external sources, resulting in higher input costs
• Moving forward on several initiatives to relieve bottleneck related to intermediates
Overall Business
- Continuing to see lower year-over-year volumes due to demand weakness in industrial production markets; expect sequential improvement in second half 2020 vs. first half
- Strong focus on cost containment; mitigate impact from softer market conditions

North America
- Reduced plant throughput; however, higher raw material costs due to more imports
- Ended outage at facility in Stickney, IL; plant now fully operational

Europe
- Creosote sales strong; improvement in oil prices helped CBF sales
- Low tar prices in inventory contributed to improved performance; seeing some tar prices increase in certain European regions as oil prices improve

Australia
- Improved demands for pitch volumes
- Some upside from inventory valuation, production and raw material costs

Supply Chain
- Coal tar costs dropping in line with end markets but lagging by approximately a quarter
- Lower domestic coal tar availability; increase in raw material imports to N.A. at higher prices; Europe/Australia remain steady

Q&A Session
Appendix
Non-GAAP Measures and Guidance

This presentation includes unaudited “non-GAAP financial measures” as defined in Regulation G under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, including adjusted EBITDA and net leverage ratio. Koppers believes that the presentation of non-GAAP financial measures such as adjusted EBITDA and net leverage ratio provide information useful to investors in understanding the underlying operational performance of the company, its business and performance trends and facilitates comparisons between periods and with other corporations in similar industries. The exclusion of certain items permits evaluation and a comparison of results for ongoing business operations, and it is on this basis that Koppers management internally assesses the company’s performance. In addition, the Board of Directors and executive management team use adjusted EBITDA as performance measures under the company’s annual incentive plans.

Although Koppers believes that these non-GAAP financial measures enhance investors’ understanding of its business and performance, these non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered an alternative to GAAP basis financial measures and should be read in conjunction with the relevant GAAP financial measure. Other companies in a similar industry may define or calculate these measures differently than the company, limiting their usefulness as comparative measures. Because of these limitations, these non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as substitutes for performance measures calculated in accordance with GAAP.

References to historical EBITDA herein means adjusted EBITDA, for which the company has provided calculations and reconciliations in the Appendix.
